

COLLEGE INTERNSHIPS: ALACHUA AUDUBON SOCIETY

Fall / Spring 2019-2020 in Gainesville

Do you want to help dedicated conservationists DO SOMETHING for nature?
Seeking real-world experiences with nature enthusiasts of all ages?

Alachua Audubon Society (<http://www.alachuaaudubon.org/>) seeks individuals motivated to contribute to conservation, education, NGO administration, fundraising and other functions of AAS. Interns must be currently matriculated college students in good academic standing and be able to contribute a minimum of 5 hours per week for at least 12 weeks during a regular academic term. Specific intern opportunities we anticipate in 2019 and 2020 include educational materials (graphic arts), co-teaching birding skills, co-leading bird walks, tabling at public events, mist netting / bird banding, nest box monitoring (kestrels), and strategic social media. Interns may accrue academic credit if arranged by their institution.

AAS is a volunteer organization (501.c.3 non-profit) driven by commitments to conservation, collaboration, outreach education and promoting nature's welfare. We invite you to join us!

QUALIFICATIONS:

- Undergraduate student, actively registered during the 2019-2020 academic year
- Interested in conservation, knowledgeable or enthusiastic about birds
- Must have at least 5 hours per week to dedicate to activities with AAS staff

APPLICATION: Electronic submission (PDF in email) should include:

- letter of intent,
- latest resume with contact information,
- a teacher's letter of recommendation,
- all in one single PDF file.

EMAIL APPLICATIONS TO: CHUCAO AT UFL DOT EDU

- by August 25th, 2019, 5 PM.
- Put AAS INTERN in the subject line.

My hard working bird PEOPLE
need you!

Join us!